Commencement Speaker

Aurelio Cardenas

The first time Aurelio Cardenas came to De Anza, he didn't think he belonged in college. He'd been incarcerated as a teenager and young man, before an injury from gun violence left him partially paralyzed in his early 20s.

Now he's graduating with an associate degree for transfer in History – thanks to his own hard work, his wife Jessica's encouragement, and support from De Anza's Rising Scholars program. This fall, Cardenas will transfer to the University of California, Santa Cruz, after winning the prestigious Pister Leadership Award, which provides $20,000 for college expenses.

"Aurelio has overcome so much just to get here, and he's grown in remarkable ways," said James Nguyen, Rising Scholars faculty coordinator. He called Cardenas a powerful example of "second chances, transformation and the incredible things our students can achieve when given the opportunity."

When Cardenas took his first class at De Anza a decade ago, he felt self-conscious and out of place, and he didn't want to come back. But a few years after his injury, he enrolled in De Anza's Adaptive PE program for people with disabilities. There, he found new motivation after seeing a classmate graduate and transfer to UC Berkeley.

Cardenas tried a History class and liked it so much that he decided to enroll full time. He joined the Men of Color Community and then the Rising Scholars program, which provides resources for students who have been incarcerated or involved with the justice system.

The Rising Scholars team – counselor Jesus Ruelas, program coordinator Claudia Guzman, and Nguyen – provided invaluable support, said Cardenas, who called them "game-changers." With their encouragement, he won a coveted internship last summer at Stanford's Martin Luther King Jr. Research and Education Institute.

Cardenas said his biggest challenge at De Anza was "believing in myself" – as an "older" student with a disability and a troubled background. Now his long-term goal is to work with young people as a counselor or teacher, he said. "I want to tell them, 'If I can do it, they can, too.'"

President's Awards

The $3,500 President's Awards are presented annually to graduating students who have overcome adversity and shown perseverance in seeking an education at De Anza.

Kathryn Cooke

Kathryn Cooke wasn't always interested in cars, but she likes doing puzzles, solving problems and figuring out how things work.

The 36-year-old military veteran and single mom is one of two recipients of this year's President's Award. She's graduating with an associate degree in Automotive Technology and has been accepted into De Anza's new bachelor's degree program in Automotive Technology Management – designed for students who want to advance into management of an automotive business.

"It's a dream of mine to be able to educate customers, especially women, so they feel like they know what they're getting and don't have to worry about spending money with someone they don't trust," Cooke said.

"Without a doubt, she'd be good at her dream," said Auto Tech chair Dave Capitolo, who said Cooke has been "a great student" and a leader who looks out for her classmates.

Cooke tried college once before, after high school, but left to pursue a military career. Although she wanted to train as a police officer, she was assigned to a U.S. Army mechanics school and decided, "OK. I'll do my best and get through it."

After 13 years in the Army National Guard, Cooke was stationed in the Bay Area when she heard other mechanics praising De Anza's automotive program. She enrolled full-time in 2022 and liked it so much that she's earned three different automotive degrees.

"The people in the program are what make you want to keep coming every day," she said. "The teachers and staff are really supportive of their students. They want you to succeed."

Cooke was active in the Auto Tech student club and an advisory committee for the new mural outside the Veterans Resource Center, where she says veterans' counselor Lan Truong played a vital role in "keeping me on track" to achieving her goals.

Jennifer Mejia Llamas

Jennifer Mejia Llamas is heading for UCLA this fall with two associate degrees under her belt and a long-term goal of getting a master's degree in public policy. She wants to work in local government and help address the need for affordable housing and related issues.

The 20-year-old President's Award recipient knows what it's like to worry about housing. She moved a lot when she was a child, and had to help translate important documents for her Spanish-speaking parents.

"I remember how stressed I was, and I know there are so many other people who are experiencing much worse," she said.

A first-generation college student, Mejia came to De Anza to save money. She credits her counselor and instructors with helping her decide what to do next. "I always had these passions to address social issues," she said, "but I didn't realize what I could do with them."

First Year Experience (FYE) counselor Jorge Morales helped Mejia learn about careers and choose classes to match her interests. Political Science instructor Jim Nguyen encouraged her to get involved in community affairs, while Political Science instructor Bob Stockwell showed her that it's OK to seek help and ask questions in class.

During her time in college, Mejia worked with an immigrant rights project at the nonprofit Sacred Heart Community Service. She also was an intern for San Jose Mayor Matt Mahan, conducted community outreach for U.S. Rep. Sam Liccardo's campaign and worked as a youth program leader for the YMCA of Silicon Valley. On campus, she's been a peer mentor for the FYE program.

"Jennifer is fiercely committed to social justice and service to others," Stockwell said. "We need more like her."

DeHart Scholarship

The $2,000 A. Robert DeHart and Rena Frabony DeHart Memorial Scholarship honors De Anza's founding president and is awarded for service to the college community.

Kimberly Weber

Kimberly Weber was kind of shy when she came to De Anza three years ago. But she said she learned to "break out of my bubble" by joining clubs, making friends and talking with her instructors.

This year's DeHart Scholarship recipient made her mark at De Anza, where she helped lead the Zero Waste environmental club and spent countless hours doing restoration work in the Cheeseman Environmental Studies Area (ESA). After graduating with an associate degree for transfer in Mathematics, Weber is transferring to the University of California, Berkeley, where she plans to study biomedical engineering.

"Kimberly was a leader. She volunteered for an incredible number of hours, helping us with our ongoing restoration project," said ESA coordinator Diana Martinez, who oversees the 1.5-acre natural garden in the southeast corner of campus.

Weber, 21, said she became interested in biology and the environment as a teenager. She also likes to build things, and wants to pursue a bioengineering degree so she can create medical devices that can help monitor and treat health problems.

After hearing about De Anza's reputation for being "Tops in Transfer," she decided it would be a good place to begin her college studies while she decided on her long-term goals.

In her time at the college, Weber also worked with Mentors@De Anza and has been a note-taker assisting students in the Disability Support Services program. After struggling a bit in her first year, she said things got easier as she made friends and became more comfortable with approaching instructors when she had questions.

Counselors and tutors at the Student Success Center were also helpful. "It's important to take advantage of all the resources that are here," she said. "And if you have free time, it really helps to get to know people and spend time with them."

Student Leadership Awards

The Student Leadership Awards are a project of the De Anza Student Government (DASG) and the Vasconcellos Institute for Democracy in Action (VIDA). These students have demonstrated extraordinary leadership in the last year.

About De Anza College

De Anza offers a broad range of academic and career programs, cultural activities, sports and social events to nearly 16,000 students each quarter. Students can choose from nearly 200 academic degrees and certificates, along with 30 noncredit certificates and approximately 1,800 courses.

While students have many options, everyone at De Anza is invited to join one of the six Villages established under the college's Guided Pathways program. These are supportive communities of students, faculty and staff, organized around related majors. The Villages offer resources and activities keyed to their students' academic interests and goals. Each Village has its own webpage, an online instructional site, and a designated physical space on campus where students can meet peers, instructors and counselors – to study or just hang out

The six Villages are:

- Artistic Expression
- Business and Finance
- Health and Life Sciences
- Language and Communication
- Physical Sciences and Technology
- Social Sciences and Humanities

ARTISTIC EXPRESSION

SOCIAL SCIENCES AND HUMANITIES

Students attending De Anza enjoy the whole college experience. They can join one of 60 student clubs or start a new one; walk through time at the California History Center; visit the stars at the Planetarium; explore the diversified ecosystems of the Cheeseman Environmental Study Area; and join or root for a sports team – there are 17 to choose from.

An education at De Anza isn't just about books and tests. Students also discover a diversity of people representing cultures from around the world and learn how to become fully engaged, politically aware citizens. Many students find opportunities for community service and engaged learning through the college's Vasconcellos Institute for Democracy in Action.

Classes and activities are held in state-of-the-art facilities, many funded through generous support of local voters. The college is committed to environmental sustainability both in building design and operations.

De Anza consistently ranks at or near the top among California community colleges in the number of transfers to the University of California and California State University campuses.

In addition, more than 30,000 friends and neighbors participate in De Anza's Community Education programs each year, including the Child Development Center, De Anza College Academy for students in grades K-12, De Anza Planetarium and Euphrat Museum of Art.

De Anza College Mission Statement

De Anza College provides an academically rich, multicultural learning environment that challenges students of every background to develop their intellect, character and abilities; to realize their goals; and to be socially responsible leaders in their communities, the nation and the world. The college is committed to equity and engages students in creative work that demonstrates the knowledge, skills and attitudes contained within the college's Institutional Core Competencies:

- Communication and expression
- Information literacy
- Physical/mental wellness and personal responsibility
- Civic capacity for global, cultural, social and environmental justice
- Critical thinking
- Quantitative Reasoning
